THE OCCASION

in collaboration with
Theatre Royal Winchester & Winchester YMCA presents

THE TIME MACHINE

A large scale community performance production
The Occasion invite you to a free ‘taster’ performance workshop at either:

Theatre Royal Winchester, Wednesday 27th or Thursday 28th January from 7.00 to 8.30pm or

St. John’s House, Winchester YMCA, Saturday 30th January from 2.00 to 3.30pm

Come along to a workshop. See what you think.

We are looking for anyone (14+) who might like to be involved in creating a new, live performance. Following the taster sessions there will be further development workshops in March & April.

People of all abilities and all backgrounds are needed to develop this large-scale, community production based on the HG Wells novel, The Time Machine. This will be produced, in Winchester, in 2017.

You don’t need to have any previous performance experience. Just a willingness to be involved in live theatre; and to work, as a team, with other people.

We are looking for anybody who is interested in any aspect of theatre production to be part of this project – onstage or behind the scenes.

If you’ve ever wanted to be involved in live performance, then this is your chance...

Over the past twenty-five years The Occasion has specialised in producing a wide range of large-scale community performances. These have involved people of all ages and all abilities; and have operated on both a national and international scale.
